Suspect(s): Adult Male (46)
Victim(s): Adult Female (36)

Synopsis: On March 24, 2025, at approximately 10:30 a.m., officers responded to the Pali Puka hiking trail on a report of a male beating a female. Through the investigation, the victim, a 36-year-old female, reported that her husband attempted to push her off the trail and then struck her multiple times to her head with a rock. The victim was transported to the hospital in critical condition where she was admitted. There were two witnesses who also called 911 and assisted in this investigation.

The suspect was identified as the victim's 46-year-old husband, Gerhardt Konig. He fled the scene prior to the arrival of police.

The CID Domestic Violence Detail and Strategic Enforcement Detail coordinated search efforts of the Pali Lookout area with officers of the Crime Reduction Units from District 4, 5, 6, and 7, the Specialized Services Division (SSD), DLNR, and HFD.

At approximately 6:10 p.m., after a brief foot pursuit, the suspect was apprehended and arrested near Nuuanu Pali Drive for Attempted Murder in the Second Degree. Arrest was made without incident.
